Thank you for selecting the Shopping Database from Park Databases (small) to download. Below are the instructions for downloading, loading of database package onto your personal computer and logging onto the database. Further instructions are available from the help pages once successful loading of the software is achieved.

Download Instructions

Using Windows explorer create two new folders on your personal computer C:\Shopping and C:\Shopping\CD

Click on the moving CD on the webpage and save the download to C:\Shopping\CD.

After you have carried out the downloaded to the new folder C:\Shopping\CD there should be the file CDShopping.exe in the folder you created. This is a self extracting zip file. Double click on this file. The files making up the Shopping Database, associated help file and the run-time MSAccess97 application will be extracted.

Loading database onto your personal computer

With your computer running and displaying windows, click on the Start button and select Run from the menu. In the Open text box type C:\Shopping\CD\Setup.exe and click on OK. The Shopping Database Set-up program will run. A welcome message will be displayed and the user will be advised to close down any applications that may be running. The user will then be informed that the Set-up program will install the Shopping Database in the folder C:\Shopping. This may be changed but it is strongly recommended not to do so. The set-up program now invites the user to install the software. Click on the Install button.

The Shopping Database will now load. Follow the instructions on the screen. In some cases not all the files from the self extracting zip file will be loaded. This will depend on the windows operating system in use and whether MSAccess97 is present on your personal computer. If a windows file can not be opened then click on ignore and continue with loading process

Logging onto the database.

After installing the Shopping Database software onto your personal computer, you are now ready to logon. Click on the Windows Start button. Move the mouse to Programs, Shopping List and then click on the Shopping List icon. The database will then load displaying the Main screen.
